Excava™ 4046

Excava™ 4046

Bold. Authentic.

Characterized by the intriguing patinas of casting and oxidizing, combining the authentic features of rust and concrete. The industrial movement has led to more robust design with tarnished metal, untreated wood and raw concrete are just some of the urban surfaces now penetrating the industry.

Care & Maintenance

Daily care and maintenance of Excava is similar to other Caesarstone surfaces, however the 'Rough' low reflective matt surface finish is more susceptible to showing everyday marks and spills meaning more regular cleaning may be required.

Caesarstone's range of Cleaning Products offer both everyday and also thorough cleaning solutions. View our Care & Maintenance and FAQ / Care & Cleaning pages for further information.

“Its beauty reflects the geological decay of stone, weathered by time and nature”

For any bench top greater than 20mm thick we recommend selecting mitred aprons to achieve the best surface-to-edge pattern continuity.

PAIRING IDEA ONE

Other Pairing Ideas

This material's dramatic visual presence makes it especially impressive for use in hospitality. It is also perfect for residential kitchens with an urban edge. Pairing well with a concrete floor, it can become sophisticated when softened by taupe tones or oak parquet.

Mirrored or chrome fittings will serve as a trend savvy accent, contrasting with the countertop's roughness. Mottled tiles or terrazzo motifs update this organic material's story.
